Numb. 408.

THE Pennſylvania GAZETTE.

Containing the freſheſt Advices Foreign and Domeſtick.

From September 30. to October 7. 1736.

LONDON, June 30.

HER Majeſty, on the 24th of this Month, iſſued out her Proclamation, prohibiting any of His Majeſty's Subjects from furniſhing Aſſiſtance to the Inhabitants of Corſica, and at the Requeſt of the Senate of Genoa, gave Orders for ſeizing the Captain of the Ship which carried over Baron Neuhoff, and for calling to account the Engliſh Conſul at Tunis, for permitting a Britiſh Veſſel to be employed on ſuch an Occaſion.

July 5. The Coaſts of Corſica are ſo ſtrictly guarded by the Genoeſe Ships, that it is now hard to know the Situation of Affairs in that Iſland; tho' this Watchfulneſs of the Republick will only encreaſe her Expences, and not mend her Matters; ſince, according to her own Accounts, Baſtia is reduced to the laſt Extremity, for want of Fuel, and Water to grind the Corn: And notwithſtanding it has lately received ſome Succours, yet the ſeveral Packets which paſs and repaſs between that City and Genoa, and the extraordinary Emotion of the Senate, ſhews the Diſtreſs of the Genoeſe, and the thriving Condition of the Corſicans; who are more likely to become Maſters of Baſtia, becauſe they have poſſeſſed themſelves of Bonza, which opens a Paſſage to the Gulph of St. Fiorenzo

As for the Lord Theodore; he has eſtabliſhed his Head Quarters at Patrimonio, and is attended by 300 Horſe, 150 of whom are Carabineers, and march next his Perſon with their naked Sabres; he keeps three ſumptious Tables, raiſes large Contributions, and will get above 700,000 Livres by the Wheat and Barly produced by the forfeited Eſtates; he ſpreads Terror every where; and whatever Place is unhappy enough to reſiſt him, is ſure to feel his Reſentment.

The Genoeſe have applied to moſt of the Foreign Powers, praying they would forbid their Subjects holding any Correſpondence with the Rebels, but to very little Purpoſe.

July 10. The Court of Petersburg has received the further agreeable News, That the Ruſſians proceed with all imaginable Succeſs on their Expedition to Crim Tartary: That Count Munich having ſent a Regiment of Foot to attack the fifth and laſt Tower upon the Lines of Precop, which held out after the late Battle, the Garriſon of Janiſaries left there to defend it immediately fled: That the ſaid General having made the proper Diviſions of his Army, to attack in two Places at once the Caſtle of Precop, the Turks ſent two Officers to deſire leave to capitulate, and obtained leave to retire: They were in Number 2254 Men, and left in it 84 Pieces of Braſs Cannon, and a great Quantity of Ammunition and Proviſion. The total Number of Cannon taken at the Battle and found on the Reduction of Precop, is no leſs than 160.

The Kan or Chief of the Calmucks ſubject to Ruſſia, have totally defeated the Tartars of Cuban, after a long and ſmart Combat: The Tartars defended themſelves like Deſperadoes, and kill'd a great Number of the Calmucks; but at length the Calmucks forc'd the Intrenchments, and fell without Mercy upon the Tartars, putting all to the Sword, and giving Quarter to none but the Women and Children who to the Number of Twenty Thouſand were carried into Slavery.

To the Landlord of the Orkney Arms, at Maidenhead near Bray, wrote ſome time ago.

FRIEND Iſaac, 'tis ſtrange you that live ſo nigh Booy,
Shou'd not ſet up the Sign of the Vicar;
Tho' it may be an odd one, you cannot but ſay,
It muſt needs be the Sign of good Liquor.

ANSWER,

INDEED, my Friend Poet, your reaſon's but poor,
For the Vicar wou'd think it a Sin,
To ſtay like a Booby and lounge at the Door;
'Tis a Sign there's bad Liquor within.

London, July 12. Letters from Madrid ſeem to intimate, That the Accommodation with the Court of Portugal is in great Forwardneſs; and that nothing was wanting but the Return of the Miniſters, who accompanied their Catholick Majeſties to Aranjuez, to put the laſt finiſhing Hand to the Negotiations upon that Affair. They add that Mr. Keene, his Britannick Majeſty's Pleniporentary, had received an Expreſs from London, with Orders to ſollicit at that Court, the Schedule for the Departure of the annual Ship, which the South Sea Company have leave to ſend to the Spaniſh Weſt-Indies, which Schedule, it is ſaid, will not be granted till certain Difficulties are removed concerning the Value of the Pieces of Eight:

It is very probable, Phillipsburg and Fort Kehl will be evacuated at the ſame with the Dukedoms of Tuſcany and Milan.

The Beauford, Capt. Bolton, from Bengal, &c. in the Service of the Eaſt-India Company, is alſo arrived, and the Queen Caroline, Capt. Wilks, from Mocha and Bombay. By theſe Ships we have the bad News, that the Derby, Capt. Abraham Anſelm, (a Ship of 30 Guns, and upwards of 90 Men) in her Paſſage to Bombay, had in a Calm been attacked by a Number of Grabs and Row-boats full of Men belonging to Angria, the famous India-Pyrate; and having ſpent all her Powder, and many of her Hands being kill'd or wounded, the Pyrates boarded, took, and carried her off, together with ſome Gentlemen and Ladies Paſſengers. She had on board the Value of 50,000 l. of which 15 000 l. was in Stores. She is the firſt Ship in the Company's Service theſe Pyrates were ever able to take.

Letters from Conſtantinople of the 13th of June aſſure us, That the Grand Vizir was to march the 16th of the ſame Month, with an Army of 30,000 Men to join another Body of 30,000 Men, which are poſted in Bulgaria: and then advance to Bender. The Vizir carries with him the Ruſſian Miniſter, to whom he has given a Guard of 700 Men commanded by an 'Aga; and has alſo invited Mr. Dahlman the the Imperial Envoy to follow the Army.

They write from Vienna, that his Imperial Majeſty had declared Count Konigſeg Preſident of the Aulick Council of War, in the room of the late Prince Eugene. That on the the 8th of last Month, the Duke of Lorrain having receiv'd an Expreſs, with the Emperor's Anſwer to the Remonſtrance of the States of Hungary, concerning the Subſidy his Imperial Majeſty had demanded, the Duke conven'd the States the next Day and told them, the Emperor would be contented with the Subſidy of 200,000 Florins they had made him Offer of without making any further Demand upon them. Upon which the Aſſembly cried out in an Extacy of Joy; Long Live our King of Hungary.

They write from Petersburg, That Thamas Kouli-Kan inſtead of clapping up a Peace with the Turks as was reported, has given that Court the moſt ſolemn Aſſurances that he will never make Peace with the Ottoman Porte upon any Conditions whatſoever, without the Knowledge and Conſent of her Czarian Majeſty.

That Feldt Marſhal Laſci puſhes on the Siege of Aſoph with the utmoſt vigor, having cauſed nine large Prames or flat-bottom'd Boats to advance within 200 Paces of the Walls; from whence he makes a dreadful Fire upon the Place. That the laſt Advices from thence ſay, That the Garriſon, animated by the continual Cries of the Turkiſh Women, made a general Sally upon the Trenches; but after an obſtinate Fight were repuls'd with great Slaughter, the Ruſſians having but 70 Men killed and wounded in the whole Action. In the mean time, the Garriſon is exceedingly weakened by theſe frequent Sallies, and daily decreaſes in number, whilſt Count Laſci's Army which at the beginning of the Siege conſiſted of no more than 20,000 Men, by the Arrival of Major General Brill with a Body of 6000 regular Troops, and ſome others, is now augmented to 30,000 effective Men.

As the Ruſſian Court is not throughly appriz'd of the Meaſures the Turks will take to carry on the War, they have order'd at all Events the Troops that winter'd in Bohemia, to advance with the utmoſt Diligence and join Lieutenant General Leotiew, who was detach'd by Feldt Marſhal Munich with a conſiderable Body of Troops, to poſt himſelf along the Banks of the Nieper, and diſpute the Paſſage of the Turks and Tartars from Badziac and Bielgorod.

An Extract of a Letter from an Engliſh Officer, in the Service of the Empreſs of Ruſſia, to his Friend in London, Dated Jan. 11. N. S.

I Landed at Cronſtadt on the the 8th of June, 1735, after a Paſſage of 30 Days, very fine Weather. Admiral Gordon who is Governor of this Place, and Knt of St. Alexander, detain'd me by his Civilities 2 Days, and then gave me a Barge to Petersburg, which is about 20 Miles higher up the River Neva. The River is about 5 Leagues broad, and the South Side is enriched with Royal Palaces, viz. Catherina-hoffre, Peter-hoffre, and Orien-boon. There is nothing remarkable at the Firſt, it being a ſmall retiring Houſe of the late Empreſs, about 4 Miles from Town: Orien-boon is 20 Miles, and is a very large fine Building, tho' now neglected; it was Prince Menzikoff's and came into the Poſſeſſion of the Crown on his Fall: Peter-hoffre lies between them, is a very large ſpacious Building, and the Gardens made to imitate Verſailles; the Water-works are the moſt extraordinary Things I ever ſaw. When I drew near Petersburg, I was ſurprized at the ſtately Buildings, and beautiful Situation; It is like Venice, on a great Number of Iſlands; about 30 Years ago a vile Moraſs; another Age will ſcarce believe the Story. As the Weather was exceeding hot, I could not help fancying my ſelf in Italy; the ringing of Bells, the vaſt Number of gilded Barges and Yatchts belonging to the Nobility and People in Office (they each being obliged to keep one,) rowing and ſailing on the River, the exceſſive Pride and Richneſs of the better Sort, and the Poverty and Slavery of the lower Sort, all contributed to this Thought. All take Place here according to the Rank and Poſts granted them in the Army, and not by Birth.

I ſhould not neglect giving you ſome Account of the Court of Petersburg: We had one Italian Opera, and a Comody every Week, in the Theatre of the Summer Palace, where the Court then was. I aſſure you the Voices are very good, tho' they are not Farinelli's or Strada's. There is an Orcheſtre of 40 excellent Hands, and the beſt Set of Serious and Comic Dancers I ever yet ſaw on the Stage together: One Woman pleaſes me as much as ever Madam Salle did, or rather more, being far handſomer; and the Men equal to any you have in England.

The Winters are long and ſharp; but warm Furs, warm Rooms, Plays, Balls, and Maſquerades, give me Hopes of ſpending them as agreeably as ever I did in any other Country; and 'tis all at her Majeſty's Expence for the Military Officers, and thoſe of her Houſhold.

We have here a curious Map of new Diſcoveries on the Eaſt-moſt Boundaries of this vaſt Empire.

The Czarina has ordered a ſtrong Reinforcemnt to join Count Munich. Her Majeſty, whoſe Repuration for her Arms and Politicks makes a conſiderable Figure in Europe equals almoſt, in the Magnificence of her Court, the Pomp of the ancient Eaſtern Princes. When her Birth-Day was celebrated laſt Month at Petersburg, her Majeſty dined in a Hall fitted up for the Purpoſe, and capable of containing ſome Thouſand Spectators. As nothing had been ſeen for ſome Months but ſome Waſtes of Snow, and the People groaning under the moſt rigorous Seaſon ever felt, her Majeſty's Palace ſmil'd with all the Appearance of Summer. The Hall where ſhe din'd was ſet round with Orange-Trees growing out of China Vaſes: The Entertainment had all the Variety the ſeveral Seaſons of the Year afford; and the Deſert all the Flowers of the Spring and the Fruits of Autumn. The Table was placed upon a ſuperb Hautpas of eight Steps, and under a Canopy of Gold Brocades, ſupported by twiſted Columns of Maſſy Gold. She was ſeated in the Chair of State made in London, and lately ſent over hither, the Frame of which was ſolid Silver, as was her Foot-ſtool. The Dinner was ſerved up in a new ſet of Gold Plate, valued at 500,000 Crowns.

London, June 15. The King of Denmark is recovered of his late Indiſpoſition. By the Accommodation which the City of Hamburg lately concluded with his Daniſh Majeſty, the Magiſtrates are to pay him 500,000 Crowns, and to aboliſh their Bank. All Officers in his Majeſty's Service, from the Rank of a General down to a Major, are to be exempted from the Juriſdiction of the Magiſtracy, tho' they live in the City; and all Perſons inhabiting the Quarter call'd Schamberg, who are moſtly Danes, are to be exempted from all publick Taxes.

June 25. 'Tis thought the Parliament will at their next Sitting paſs a Bill for reducing the Law relating to the Poor, and to Rogues and Vagabonds, into one Law, and that by this Law the Juſtices of the Peace, at their Quarter Seſſions, will be directed to divide their reſpective Counties into one or more Diſtricts; and a Corporation will be erected in each Diſtrict, conſiſting of twelve Inhabitants poſſeſſed of 50l. per Annum, to be choſen in the following Manner, viz, Names of Perſons qualified to be put in a Box, eighteen of whom to be drawn out by an indifferent Perſon, by Direction of the Quarter-Seſſions; and the Juſtices preſent may take out ſix thereof, and the Remaining twelve to be Guardians of the Poor of that Diſtrict for one Year: Six new ones to be choſen in like Manner every Year; viz. nine to be drawn, and three excluded by the Quarter-Seſſions; for the ſecond Year, the firſt Six drawn of the preceding Year to go out, and every other Year thoſe ſix who have been longeſt Guardians. The Guardians of each Diſtrict to purchaſe any Quantity of Land, not exceeding ten Acres, with or without Buildings thereon, as near as may be to the Middle of their reſpective Diſtricts, and may build ſuch Houſe and other Buildings as they ſhall judge neceſſary for Lodging and Employing the Poor. As ſoon as ſuch Workhouſe in any Diſtrict ſhall be finiſhed, the Guardians to give Notice to the reſpective Overſeers of all the Pariſhes therein; and within one Month all the Poor to be conveyed thither, and from that time no Perſon to be relieved except upon ſudden and emergent Occaſions. In theſe Workhouſes will be received all the Children above three in Number of ſuch married Perſons who ſhall deſire the ſame, and make an Oath that they are not worth above Five Pounds over and above their Houſehold Goods and wearing Apparel.

The Emperor, to ſhew his tender Regard for the Memory of Prince Eugene keeps by him the Sabre, which his Highneſs took from the Grand Viſier at the Battle of Peterwarden; as alſo the Sword and Staff of Command, which he commonly made uſe of in his Campaigns.

The Emperor has ſent to Italy for 19 Regiments of Foot, which are to begin their March for Hungary as ſoon as the Republick of Venice decides, whether they are to paſs through the Paduan or Veroneſe.

London,

London, June 26. They write from Conſtantinople, that the Turks made an extraordinary Court to the Poliſh and Imperial Miniſters there, in order to induce their reſpective Sovereigns to a Neutrality in the preſent Conjuncture; but the Emperor waits only the Succeſs of his Miniſter Count Tahlman's Negotiations at the Porte, to determine beſt how to anſwer the Obligations, his Treaty with the Czarina and that Princeſs's generous and ſteady Conduct, have laid him under to her.

Aſoph is not, by the laſt Advices, yet taken; but as the Ruſſian Artillery is arrived, and all Methods taken to prevent its Relief, 'tis not doubted but it muſt ſoon ſurrender.

Count Munich's Victory over the Tartars, will doubtleſs faciliate this; and the rather, as that General has purſued his Blow and made himſelf Maſter of the Town and Caſtle of Precop, and ſo commands a free Paſſage into the Crimea.

The French ſhew as little Inclination to quit Philipsburg and Fort Kehl, as the Spaniards do Tuſcany.

Charleſtown in South-Carolina, Aug. 21.

We are informed by private Letters from London, that His Majeſty has granted a large Tract of Land behind the two Carolinas to the Swiſs, who are to ſend over their People at their own Expence; and they have aſſured the Government, in a few Years they will ſend at their own Expence above 100,000 of their own People. By Agreement they are not to ſettle themſelves within 150 Miles of the Sea.

Savanna in Georgia, Aug. 5. Thomas Mellichamp, lately found guilty of forging South Carolina Bills, was yeſterday apprehended here, together with a Gang of Men of very vile Characters, upon ſome of whom ſtolen Goods were taken; he is committed to Goal for Forgery, the Grand Jury having found a Bill of Indictment againſt him for that Crime, his Mother and Family being concerned in the Proceedings of the Gang, and conveying away Goods, are expelled the Colony.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 30.

Yeſterday came on the Election of the Anuual Magiſtrates of this City; at which Time the Magiſtrates of the laſt Year were univerſally re-elected, without ſo much as one Vote againſt any of them, except in the Dock Ward, where Gerrard Beekman, and Weſſel Weſſels, both good Men, and hearty Friends of this City, ſtood Candidates for Common-Council Men of that Ward; and the Polls were ſo near, that a Scrutiny was demanded, and had; and upon the Scrutiny, Gerrard Beekman, Common Council Man for the laſt Year, was declared elected.

We hear, that before the Election began, the Hon. Rip Van Dam, Eſq; ſent a written Notice to the Aldermen, that he would that Day appoint the Mayor and other Officers of this City, which are Yearly in the Appointment of the Commander in Chief of this Province, as he conceived it was his Right to do.------ And the Hon George Clarke, Eſq, having done the like, the ſeveral Aldermen of the Six inner Wards asked the Advice of their Electors, what they ſhould do in this Juncture; (To wit,) Whether they ſhould accept of a Mayor, &c. from Mr Van Dam, or from Mr. Clarke? And the Advice was, to accept of them from Mr. Van Dam. We have not heard, that there was any one Voice to accept of them from Mr. Clarke; nor have we heard, that the Aldermen of the Out Ward had Notice of the included ſeveral Nominations, either before or during the Election in that Ward, ſo that we ſuppoſe, that Queſtion was not put there.

The ſame Day were appointed,

By Mr. Clarke.	By Mr. Van Dam.
Paul Richards, Mayor.	Cornelius Vanborne, Mayor.
Daniel Horſemanden, Record.	William Smith, Recorder.
William Cosby, Sheriff.	Richard Aſtfield, Sheriff.
Richard Nichols, Coroner.	Richard Nichols, Coroner.

By the Charter, Three of the Aldermen are, on the 14th of October, Yearly, to go to the Commander in Chief, and ſee the appointed Mayor ſworn in his Office; 'till which Time, we muſt wait for the Reſolutions of the Common-Council, by which they will determine whoſe Appointment they will accept of.------ In the mean time, we hear, that Mr. Clarke is removing his Houſhold-Goods from his Houſe in this City, to the Garriſon.

October 2. We hear that M. Clarke, and the Councillors acting with him, have often been at the Council together in the Garriſon, ſince the Elections; and that Yeſterday, a Proclamation was publiſhed by their Order, which We hear, was in Order to forbid all People to act with Mr. Van Dam, under Penalties, but further Particulars We have not as yet learned.---- Mr. Van Dam, by his Proteſtation of the Eleventh of March laſt, the Day after Mr. Cosby's Death, did alſo forbid all People to act with Mr. Clarke; ſo the Queſtion is, which of the Two the People ought to act with; for Nobody doubts but that the one or the Other has the Right, and ought to be acknowledged as Commander in Chief, and acted with; and as it ſeems confeſſed on all Hands, that the acting with him who is not authorized by his Majeſty to be Commander in Chief, is High Treaſon, it highly behoves every rational Man, before he acts with Either, to underſtand well the Pretenſions of both Sides, and ſatisfy his own Judgment, who it is moſt ſafe to act with.
